Consumer dispute resolution / Universal arbitration board

We are not prepared or obliged to participate in any dispute resolution procedure before a consumer arbitration board.

Liability for content

As a service provider, we are responsible for our own content contained within the site in accordance with Art. 7 (1) of the German Broadcast Media Act (TMG). However, in accordance with Articles 8 to 10 TMG, we – as service providers – are not obliged to monitor information transmitted or stored by third parties or to investigate circumstances that indicate illegal activity. Obligations to remove or block the use of information under general laws remain unaffected. Nevertheless, liability in this regard only applies from the date on which knowledge of a specific infringement comes to light. We will remove the content as soon as we become aware of corresponding infringements.

Dr. Barbara Mayer accepts no liability and gives no guarantee for the currency, accuracy or completeness of the information provided.

She also accepts no liability for damages caused by the use or distribution of such information or in connection with the distribution/use of such information. She reserves the right to add to or change the information provided at any time.

Liability for linked content

Our site contains links to external third-party websites over whose content we have no control. We therefore accept no liability for any such third-party content. The relevant service provider or operator of the linked website is responsible at all times for the content of that website. Linked pages are checked at the time of linking for possible legal infringements. No illegal content was identified at the time the link was made. However, it is not reasonable to expect us to permanently monitor the content of these linked websites without specific evidence of an infringement. We will remove any such links as soon as we become aware of any legal infringements.

Copyright

The content and works created by site operators are subject to German copyright and other property rights. Reproduction, editing, distribution or any kind of use beyond the scope of copyright law require the written consent of the author or creator. Copyright for items published and created by the author herself lies exclusively with the author of the site. Downloads and copies of this site or any reproduction or use of such items in other electronic or printed publications are not permitted without the express permission of the author. If the contents of this website were not created by the site operator, third-party copyrights will be respected. Third-party content, in particular, is identified as such. Should you nevertheless become aware of a copyright violation, we request immediate notification. We will remove such content as soon as we become aware of any infringements.

Data protection

If there is the option of entering personal or business data (email addresses, names, postal addresses) within the website, the disclosure of such data by the user is voluntary. If technically feasible and where reasonable, the services offered can also be used and paid for without disclosing such data or by using anonymous data or an alias. Use of the contact details published in the legal notice or similar disclosures such as postal address, telephone numbers and fax numbers as well as email addresses by third parties to send information not expressly requested is not permitted. We explicitly reserve the right to take legal action against anyone violating this prohibition by sending so-called spam.

Legal validity

This exclusion of liability should be considered as part of the website from which a link was provided to this page. Should any parts of this text or any individual wording within it fail to fully reflect the current legal position, the content and validity of the remaining parts of the document will remain unaffected.
